Brief History of Personnel Records

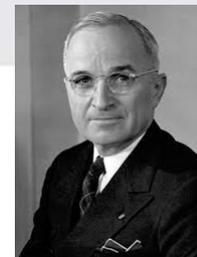

- The National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) holds records relating to military service during the Revolutionary War to the present. Early records from the Revolution included both Continental troops & state troops that served as Continental troops (no state militia records) as well as records for personnel serving during the War of 1812 and through the Civil War, at our facility in Washington, D.C.
- For Union army soldiers, there are three major records in NARA that provide information on military service: (1) compiled military service record (CMSR); (2) pension application file; and (3) records reproduced in microfilm publication M594, Compiled Records Showing Service of Military Units in Volunteer Union Organizations (225 rolls)
- For Confederate army soldiers, there are two major records that provide information on military service: (1) compiled military service record (CMSR) and (2) records reproduced in microfilm publication M861, Compiled Records Showing Service of Military Units in Confederate Organizations (74 rolls) PDF format Records relating to Confederate soldiers are typically less complete than those relating to Union soldiers because many Confederate records did not survive the war
- In the 1890s, the Department of War used numerous sources, such as muster, descriptive & pay rolls, to create compiled military service records. CMSRs generally show when a soldier joined a unit and if he was present when the unit was mustered. \(Note: The Department of War abstracted the compiled military service records for men who fought in the Revolutionary War from extant records among its files in an attempt to create substitutes for records destroyed by fires in 1800 and 1814\). Because the Department was not able to reconstruct every record, a soldier may have fought in a Continental Army unit during the war, but there may not be a compiled military service record for him

- Modern military personnel record can be traced to late 19th Century
- U.S. Navy was first to transition to a true, more detailed individual military personnel record in late 19th Century
- After World War I we begin to see establishment of benefits and entitlements for veterans
- Post World War II expansion of entitlements created demand for military personnel records
- By late 1940's Defense Department recognized a need to more efficiently store & access military personnel records for use by vets, Next-of-Kin (NOK) & governmental entities
- Led to a desire to centralize the records...where do we put them?
- First effort led to centralizing records in North Carolina (temporary solution)—then in Kansas City—again a temporary solution
- By early 1950s DoD had secured funding from Congress for a Demobilized Military Personnel Records Facility to be constructed in St. Louis (centrally located)
- $12.5 million dollar project ($119 million in 2018 dollars) saw construction of facility at 9700 Page Avenue in Overland, MO
- National Personnel Records Center (NPRC) established in 1960 when military and civilian personnel records were combined in St. Louis

- In 2004 the Archivist of the United States (AOTUS) with the DoD determined the Official Military Personnel File (OMPF), were to be permanent, archival records of the United States
- Decision required revisions/upgrades to old facilities to properly preserve/store records in perpetuity
- Ultimately more cost-effective to replace than renovation of old facilities due to infrastructure, construction and antiquated designs
- New facility at 1 Archives Drive was finished in May 2011

Records of Interest to Genealogists

- National Archives at St. Louis is a personal data record series archive
- Official Military Personnel File (OMPF)
- Official Personnel Folder (OPF)
- Selective Service System Registration Cards & Classification Ledgers
- Individual Decease Personnel Files (IDPFs)
- Courts-Martial Records
- Many other personnel-related records rich in genealogical material

Are Archival Records Free?

- Archival records are free to access in our public research rooms & those in the NARA Catalog
- Archival records can be photographed or scanned for free in our research rooms
- If a patron wants copies of an archival record, or if the request is from an off-site patron, there are copy fees associated with this work
- Copies of archival records are subject to fees under 44 USC 2116 & 36 CFR 1258
 - NARA does not receive appropriations for copies of records
 - Fees for archived records are processed through the NARA Trust Fund (44 USC 2307)
 - Archival OMPFs are subject to fees except for requests for benefits & entitlements from the vet or Next of Kin (NOK)
 - Current fee schedule for OMPFs: .80 per page; $25: 5 pp or less; $70: 6 pp or more

Research Services
St. Louis, MO (RL)

Archival Official Military Personnel Files (OMPFs)

- All OMPFs become a public, archival record 62 years to-the-day from when the veteran retired, separated or was killed in service
 - This is a rolling date: $(62 - \text{Today's date}) = \text{Archival date}$. Example: $62 - 10/20/2018 = 10/20/1956$.
- Any record with this date of retirement, separation or KIA or EARLIER, is a public, archival record
 - Anyone can request & review or purchase a copy, subject to FOIA Privacy Exemption review
- If a record is newer than the current archival date it has limited access:
 - Veteran, NOK, military service department, law enforcement

RG 24: Records of the Bureau of Naval Personnel NAID: 38982845, : RG 319: Records of the Army Staff NAID 299741; RG 342: Records of U.S. Air Force Commands, Activities, and Organizations NAID 30479766; RG 127: Records of the U.S. Marine Corps NAID 299715; RG 26: Records of the U.S. Coast Guard NAID 597218

What's in an OMPF?

- The OMPF documents an individual's military service:
 - Date & type of enlistment/commissioning/appointment
 - Duty stations & assignments
 - Training & qualifications
 - Performance reports
 - Awards & decorations received
 - Insurance/emergency contact information
 - Non-judicial disciplinary actions (e.g., Article of 15; Letters of Counseling/Reprimand)
 - Date & type of separation/discharge/retirement, including DD Form 214 (Report of Separation)
 - May also contain birth & marriage certificates, divorce decrees, letters, & official photographs
- Detailed information about a veteran's participation in battles & military engagements is not found in the OMPF

How Big are OMPFs?

- Average size of an OMPF is 76 pages
- Some records are small: < 40 pages
- Some are huge: Thousands of pages

1973 Fire

- Shortly after midnight, on July 12, 1973, a fire was reported at NPRC's military personnel records building at 9700 Page Avenue in Overland, MO
- It burned uncontrolled for 4 days
- 42 Fire Departments responded
- Facility was not constructed with fire sprinklers or fire breaks
- Approximately 22 million OMPFs were stored on the 6th (top) floor

1973 Fire (continued)

A Burned Record: “B-File”

Some 6.5 million OMPFs were recovered from the fire.
Some are severely damaged

Official Military Personnel Files (OMPFs)

- Records damaged or lost include an estimated 16-18 million military records. Records damage occurred from both fire and water

Records Affected	Discharge Dates	Estimated Loss
Army WWI	11/1/1912 - 9/7/1939	80%
Army WWII	9/8/1939 - 12/31/1946
Army Post-WWII	1/1/1947 - 12/31/1959
Air Force	9/25/1947 - 12/31/1963 surnames Hubbard - Z	75%

Official Personnel Folders (OPFs)

- OPFs are the personnel records of former civil servant employees of the federal government
- A large collection of these records are permanent & some are archival & available to all
 - OPFs from the beginning of Civil Service through 1951 (separation/retirement) are archival, public records
 - OPFs from 1952 - 1973 are not yet designated as permanent and archived
 - OPFs from 1974 to present are not permanent records
